MILLIONS WANT BREAD

Advices From China Indicate Great Need

American Red Cross Anxious to Aid in Halting Grim Destroyer.

Recent advices from China indicate that conditions in the famine district are as bad as have been rumored and are growing worse as days go by. Two and a half million Chinese will die for the want of bread if assistance is not rendered immediately. This number comprises nearly the entire population of the northern part of the provinces of Kiang-Su and Bihui.

The famine in China is the direct result of the great floods which inundated the provinces mentioned last summer, ruining the crops. Consequently there was no harvest and the supply of food on hand was not sufficient to sustain the people of these sections until the next harvest. In fact, unless prompt aid is rendered there will not be a next harvest, as the Chinese will eat the seed instead of planting it. During the first day of the famine mothers endeavored to sell their babies to provide food for themselves and save the children from starvation. Now they are trying to give the children away in the hope that those to whom the babies are given will be able to feed them. Along the banks of the Grand Canal the victims of this terrible calamity are living in mud and water, with only shacks of matting over their heads, hoping against hope that they may exist until boats bearing the staff of life comes up the canal to relieve them.

Writing from Hwai Yuan, via Nanking, E. O. Lobenstein, of the American Presbyterian Mission, describing the conditions which exist in the country immediately about Hwai Yuan, says:

"The majesty of Awar Yuan has an estimated population of 300,000 persons. The number of famine sufferers—those who must be relieved or die—in this majesty alone, amounts to, approximately, 200,000—70 per cent of the entire population. Last year the flood was the worst here in many years, and the crops were poor. The wheat suffered from drought, and only one third was saved. This year about half of the wheat was harvested, but in the region north of Hwai two tornadoes and then the flood carried away practically everything.

"The need here is great, and the condition of the poor is as serious as that in other parts. Reports come in daily of people dying of starvation. The poor who have children are trying to sell them, but even they will not sell for pittance. Help is needed at once. As soon as the real cold and wet weather sets in the death rate will increase greatly.

"One million people are dependent on outside relief, and these will die of starvation if relief is not given and they are kept in this region. Five months must be counted on and a family cannot exist on less than one cent per head per day, if for that.

"We are eagerly hoping for help from the Red Cross Society."

This statement only gives an idea of the conditions in one portion of the great famine district.

This morning, to a correspondent, Miss Boardman, of the American Red Cross, stated:

"The plague is creeping southward towards this famine district. It has ravaged Manchuria, and thousands of refugees who have fled to Chefoo, in Chantung Province, have carried it there. Hundreds of deaths occur daily. The frozen ground prevents the burial of the dead and long rows of coffins lie on the roadside. American Consul-General Wilder, at Shanghai, cabled to the Red Cross that people stricken with this plague die within a few hours, and that it is of so fatal a nature no one ever recovers. The people have at last consented to cremation and several thousand of these bodies have been burned.

"The Red Cross has sent from Manila Dr. Richard Strong and Dr. Oscar Teague, plague experts, to aid the Chinese Government to fight the spread of this fatal pestilence. It is now only about 150 miles from the provinces in which the famine exists, and if it ever reaches there the result will be appalling."

President Taft, as President of the American Red Cross, has sent out an urgent appeal to our people to aid China, which is suffering from these dual calamities. Contributions of money can be sent to Mr. John B. Atkinson, Earlinton, Ky., member of the Kentucky Red Cross Board.

If the people of America desire to help these sufferers in China they must act immediately. The Red Cross makes all remittances to China by cable, through the State Department, thus insuring safe passage of funds from the giver to the beneficiary and the speedy application of such funds where they will do the most good.

The Vote Seller.

(WILBUR D. NISBIT.)

Who purchased first this vote that you have sold?
What figure may express its primal cost?
No grimy paper, greasy silver, gold
Nor any coin first bought this right you lost.
Men found the unsailed ways across the sea,
Men blazed the unknown trails o'er hill and plain,
To buy this heritage for you and me—
And you have made their labor all in vain.
Men loosed of monarch's grasp from off the laze,
Men marched, and starved, and froze, and fought, and died—
And never one held out the itching palm
Nor did the deed wherein their honor died.
Beside the Bridge at Concord, on the field
At Manmouth, and upon the Delaware
The price of this same ballot was revealed—
But not the damning price your soul must bear.
Paul Jones, Decatur—all the fearless men
Who built their faith on you!—they bought and paid
For this that you so blindly sell again
To those who make of honor but a trade.
Aye, and the men who charged the cannon's mouth,
Whose bones now sanctify the common sod
Of North and East and West, and of the South—
They bought the vote for you and me, of God.
So you will sell it, you who step aside
And sneer at the poor thief who wears his knees,
Or look with salient glance of smirking pride
At women who flaunt on the garish dices—
And you would make a jest of it, this sale
Of what man gave their all that you might know
That in your land true freedom should not fall?
You, whom your land should treat as any foe.
And what of them that buy? Aye, what of them?
Is there a word yet coined to 'tell their shame?
Unfit to touch fair Freedom's garment's hem,
Oh history's black page should be each name.
With bitter words and hissing we do tell
Of him who serves his country as a spy—
But meaner than the wretch who dares to sell
Is that low traitor who creeps in to buy.

Idiotic Interrogations.

How far is a far cry?
It is wrong to steal a march?
Can you hum an air of unconcern?
Does it hurt to be struck by an idea?
Did you ever see the shadow of a doubt?
Can the voice of conscience be cultivated?
What artist painted the picture of health?
When the welkin rings who answers the ring?
What florist raises the the pink of prosperity?
When fortune smiles does she show her front teeth?—Boston Transcript.

PROGRESS OF TELEPHONES IN TRAIN DISPATCHING SERVICE

Great Adaptability of Telephone and Advantage Over Telegraphy.

Among the more important comparatively new ways in which the telephone is now used is the rural telephone service, the constantly increasing "inter-phone" service, and train dispatching. In 1907 laws were passed limiting the length of service per day to nine hours in the case of men employed in handling train orders. This meant a large increase in the number of train dispatchers, and owing to the policy adopted by the Order of Railway Telegraphers of limiting the number of apprentices, there were not enough operators to go around.

Railroads turned to the telephone, preforce, and the advantages of its use for reasonable distances quickly manifested themselves. Not only is the telephone quicker, but it has proven trustworthy. First telephone circuits of this sort installed in this country were put in on the New York Central lines, in 1907, by the Western Electric Co., which action was quickly followed by the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. More than sixty of the large railroad systems of the country now have this class of service, among them the following, which have a telephone installed mileage of more than 1,000 miles each, as shown herewith:

Railroads	Installed
Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe	3,000
Canadian Pacific	1,000
Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul	1,300
Chicago, Burlington & Quincy	2,540
Great Northern	2,900
Illinois Central	2,200
Lake Shore & Michigan Southern	2,200
Louisville & Nashville	1,300
Pennsylvania lines, east	1,500

The system permits of the installation of telephones at water tanks, draw bridges, sidings, shops, round houses and other such places along the line, so that train crews and others can get into direct communication with the dispatchers at all these points. The latest innovation is the use of portable telephone sets, not only on wrecking trains, but on regular passenger and freight trains.

CONQUEST OF THE AIR

Vividly Described and Pictured in Walter Wellman's Great Book,
"The Aerial Age."

As Wellman recently broke all records for sea fight in a dirigible balloon, so his book describing his thousand mile adventure in fog and tempest will enjoy a record breaking sale. For years distinguished as an able journalist and as a forceful writer on general subjects of national and international concern, it is only natural that "The Aerial Age," detailing his experience in the air and in the Arctic, should be widely read, especially as every civilized nation is on the alert for what will happen next in the world-wide struggle for the conquest of the air.

Wellman has surely dared much and accomplished much in his two trips in quest of the North Pole, and more recently in his great dirigible "America." What he has thus dared, and thus done, is vividly told about and illustrated with striking photographic productions. "The Aerial Age" is a handsome volume of more than 500 pages, and contains forty-eight full page pictures, detailing the construction, the flights and the finish of the great balloon that Wellman planned and put in motion. He touches the whole subject of aerial navigation, not only describing what has happened but forecasting what will happen in the near future. On the whole, it is pretty safe to say that everyone who wants to get at the greatest subject now claiming the world's attention, and to get at it either from a scientific, literary, educational or prophetic viewpoint, will want Wellman's book.

FREE Your Organ

30 DAYS TRIAL
NOT ONE RED CENT IN ADVANCE.

From My Factory Direct to you, saves $5 to $50. I'll prove this beyond the shadow of a doubt if you will let me ship you one of my Adler Organs on free trial.

I prove every statement I make before you buy—if I don't, ship my organ back at my expense.

Put Trust in You

MIDDLEMEN WIPED AWAY

I've busted the hot air bubble of the dealers, agents and middlemen of this country by selling direct to the homes at the same price they formerly paid me for my organs.

SEND ME YOUR NAME

whether you want to buy or not and I'll send you free of charge and postpaid the most wonderful organ book and buying plans you ever saw. All the organs men in this country claim they make the best organ but do not give you any proof. Here is the proof. I own my own timber lands, saw mills, dry kilns and factory. I do not have to pay one penny of profit for lumber or milling. The profits that other manufacturers pay to lumber and saw mills, I put into my Adler Organs, (The Nightingales of Organs). That's the reason my organ is better than any other make. Another Proof! I guarantee my organs for 50 years, whereas others guarantee theirs for 10 to 12 years. Don't this mean something? My selling plans are the fairest, simplest, safest and easiest ever placed before the American public, in that I grant my customers all the time they want, arrange their payments so it suits their income and circumstances, give them reasonable extensions of time if they can't meet their payments and charge them no interest. Ask some of your neighbors who dealt with me about this. That's the best proof you can get. I would just as soon give you $1.00 in gold if you can duplicate this proposition.

MY ORGAN (THE NIGHTINGALE OF ORGANS)

has a tone nearest to the human voice, a pure singing tone that lasts a life time and it won the highest prize at the St. Louis World's Fair, another proof my organs are the best. Everybody is buying an organ these days and everybody is buying an Adler on account of its high quality, wearing qualities, style and reputation. I am selling them for less than dealers and agents are selling cheaper grade organs and when you stop to think and realize that when you buy from one of these middlemen you must pay his profit, salesman's salaries, store rents and other expenses, my offer means a whole lot and stands before you as the king of money savers. My world's greatest organ factory is working day and night, grinding out the organs desired, and this condition was brought about by the fair and liberal treatment I handed out to my customers, now numbering over 75,000. Whenever I sell an Adler, it sells a dozen more and so on indefinitely. They've stood the test and always will. Quality always wins out.

75,000 ADLER OWNERS SAVED $2,625,000

Before I sold direct to the homes at wholesale factory prices, as I am doing now exclusively, I used to sell to dealers only, but when I found out that they sold my organs for twice and three times as much as they paid me, making the poor people bleed for it, I was thunderstruck and quit. I sent out thousands of notices telling them they couldn't buy another organ from me, that I meant to sell direct to the homes, saving them the enormous, unreasonable profits and expenses they were charging them. This came to them as a thunderbolt from a clear sky. In round numbers I've saved my customers (over 75,000 of them) at least $2,625,000, all of which would have gone to the dealers had I sold the organs through them. You surely appreciate what this means.

Your Piano

My Piano Offer—The Greatest

My high grade world's famous Adler Southern Concert Grand Pianos can be had direct from my factory on the same liberal buying plans as applied to my Adler Organs. In tone, excellence, workmanship, material and finish they have no superior, if an equal, and I can save you $100 to $150. They are artistic in design, built to last a life time, have a tone as clear and pure as a bell, and a wonderful, easy, elastic touch.

Guaranteed for 25 Years

Stool, scarf and instruction book given with every piano. Send for catalogue and buying plans.

The Adler Factory—Greatest in the World

NOW MY PROPOSITION TO YOU

is simply this, I will ship you, on 30 days free trial, any organ you want, on any reasonable terms you may suggest, just as it suits your income and circumstances. If you keep it at the end of the trial period, which I know you will, you can pay all cash or a small sum down and the balance monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or any other reasonable way. If at any time you can't meet a payment when it's due, I'll gladly give you a reasonable extension of time. You shall not inconvenience yourself by buying an Adler, for I'm going to make it the easiest purchase you ever made. I'll charge you no interest as other organ men are doing. If you don't keep my organ because it's not as represented, you can ship it back at my expense and I'll pay you every cent you paid for freight, so you will lose absolutely nothing. Furthermore, if at any time within a year your organ does not hold up to every claim I made, you can ship it back at my expense and I'll return to you every dollar of the purchase price with 6 per cent. Interest and all freights paid. I can agree to do this because I know how my organs are made and positively know they always make good.

50 YEAR GUARANTEE

I guarantee all my organs for 50 years, something no other organ man will do. My guarantee bond is the strongest ever written and if you will ask your banker or any of my local banks or the editor of this paper as to my reliability, you will be told that I am as sound as a rock, that you can safely enter into any transaction with me and that all of my dealings are on the square. Send your name for catalog and buying plans. You will be under no obligation whatever. Stool and instruction book given with every organ.

Spelling as She is Spelt

(New York Sun.)

AN OLD-FASHIONED woman who sometimes complains of fads in the public schools has an Opera bag and a letter marked "Exhibits 1 and 2," which she shows without comment to defenders of the system. The Opera bag is made of soft burned leather, elaborately monogrammed and befringed. The letter reads:

"Dear Aunt—I had expected to get up to see you during the holidays but was disappointed. This is my second year in High School and am literally rushed to death. The Opera bag I am sending you for a birthday present I made myself. I made it at school. We devote an hour every day to artistic work of this kind. It is extremely interesting, a hope you will find the bag useful as well as ornamental."

"One hour a day," sighed the old fashioned person, "to make Opera bags and similar handicraft, and then a second-year high school pupil produced an ill-spelled letter like that."

Deserved It.

A friend of mine had a lot of hens and wanted to raise some chickens, but his hens wouldn't sit on the eggs. So one night he went into the coop, grabbed one of them and put it on a nest and held it there all night. In the morning, when the light broke into the place, he found that he had grabbed up the rooster by mistake. He was arrested by the federal authorities for illegal use of the male.

Great Boon Spectacle Coming.

Daniel Boone on the Trail is coming with its tribe of full blooded Sioux Indians, its pack of Siberian wolves, its den of bears and its great St. Bernard dogs to show the natives of Earlington how Daniel did things up in the earlier pioneer days.

Where is the fireside where the great stories have not filled the old and young with pride? Boone though dead, his memory lives forever in the hearts of his race.

Daniel Boone on the Trail can truthfully be called one of the real successes of the season. The public are now growing tired of seeing the moving pictures of some Indian story, in which an actor is painted and rehearsed to represent the savage Indians. They long for the more realistic as in Daniel Boone, where the savage is played by a real Indian.

In Boone you will see these painted devils, as the earlier settlers called them, burn the Boone cabin, you will hear their wailing, chant as did Boone hear it on that dreadful night when he found himself homeless and a prisoner fallen in the hands of the savages. This is one of the plays dealing with romance of the Colonial days, that fires the hearts of every true man, woman and child. The coming of night, the burning of the last stick and the attack of the howling wolves is worked behind a large screen curtain and in full view of audience, as well as the great den scene, in which Boone's daughter is thrown in among the bears and Boone's thrilling rescue, which calls forth great applause from the parquette, as well as set the gallery gods wild with excitement.

The story of Boone is a pure sweet romance filled with that great something that is needed to weather the success of any dramatic production.

Bounding Elk, the great Sioux warrior, is with the company and chief of the tribe of Indians carried. This famous old warrior fought against Custer in the battle of the Little Big Horn and was near Custer when he fell. Today the old war horse is in his ninetieth year and his eyes have not ceased to sparkle when the stories of the Indian wars are told. He is very quiet and he seldom speaks. Who knows? Down deep in his broken heart he is still ringing a battle with his conscience of the great wrong done his people.

A Modern Question.

A mother in Hackensack engaged a young woman as nurse for her baby. After she had wheeled the youngster about the yard for a half-hour, she came into the house and asked, "you mind, ma'am, if I smoke a cigar?" There is a vacancy on each.

A scald, burn, or a severe cut heals slowly if neglected. The family that keeps a bottle of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT on hand is always prepared for such accidents. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, drug department.

MERIT ESSENTIAL TO SUCCESS

Advertising Can Never Build Lasting Results Unless Product is Worthy.

Points in advertising are thus summed up by the Chicago Commercial Journal: "First, the advertisement must attract the eye; second, present convincing argument; third, reach buyers of product offered; fourth, be read at the right time; fifth, be continuous for a long period—immediate results being rare." One point omitted is that merit must be the basis to secure lasting success. Inferior articles may be pushed to a large scale, but quickly become discredited when buyers are disappointed. Many advertisers overlook all these factors. They fail to arrest the attention and so to prove the need of what they have for sale, and they expect one charge or an occasional careless shot will bring down the game. Some stop advertising when their business is dull, though energetic men are apt to feel that is the time to make greater effort. Periods of depression also call for closer economy in production and those who look ahead are open to arguments on the advantages of a change of machinery and material. They have time then to think about it. In printing, the dull season for some houses is the busy season for others. It is rarely that any of them close entirely for a single day, except Sunday. The advertiser who omits any issue of the right medium takes chances of missing sales he would otherwise have made.

Bloodline Cough Checker will quickly allay that hacking irritation accompanying a severe cough or cold. The safest and surest remedy for children. Keep a bottle constantly at hand. St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department, special agents.

NEIGHBORS.

All the grasping and the greed of this world came from not regarding our fellows as our neighbors. One doesn't trample his neighbors. He works with them to a common end. We must come to look on all the world as our neighbors. We must do away with the idea of classes. There isn't any justification for class lines in America. They are unjust, unwholesome, unrighteous and un-American. Why should we have class lines here in this country and one man despise another just because he has been lucky enough to make a little more money? A man has some right to be proud of what he makes with his own hands and his own brains, but he hasn't any business putting on airs over what he is merely trying to spend.—Jacob A. Rills.

To Relieve a Burn.

A free application of soft soap to a fresh burn almost instantly removes the fire from the flesh. If the injury is severe, as soon as the pain ceases apply linseed oil and then dust over with fine flour. When this covering dries hard repeat the oil and flour dressing until a good coating is obtained. When the latter dries allow it to stand until it cracks and falls off, as it will in a day or two, and a new skin will be found to have formed where the skin was burned.

While it is impossible to prevent an accident, it is never impossible to be prepared—it is beyond any one's purse. Invest 25 cents in a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and you are prepared for sprains, bruises and like injuries. Sold by Geo. King & Sons.

Your Comb.

Combs should not be washed with water. This is apt to split the teeth. A stiff nailbrush is a good thing to keep for cleaning them. After using the brush take a damp cloth and wipe between each tooth with this.

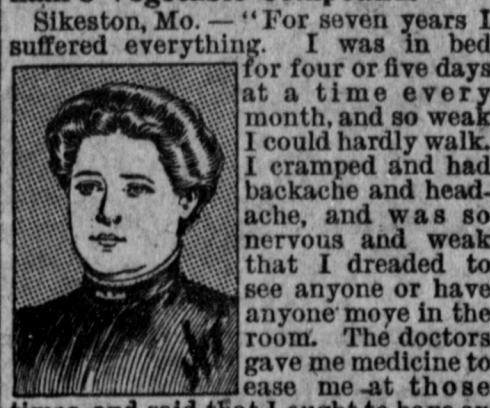

For sore throat there is positively no remedy that will relieve so quickly and cure permanently the most aggravated case, as Bloodline Rheumatic Liniment. St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, Drug Department, special agents.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Stikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month, and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see anyone or have anyone move in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to ease me at those times, and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like it, too. I can do my own housework, hoe my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and enjoy them. I can visit when I choose, and walk as far as any ordinary woman, any day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."

—Mrs. DEMA BETHUNE, Stikeston, Mo. — The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try it?

Literary Bug Chases Cupid.

A Kansas City (Kan.) man was given a divorce recently because his wife is so busy writing love stories for the magazines that he had to prepare his own meals and do most of the housework. When the literary bug enters the parlor Cupid slips out of the kitchen door and climbs over the fence.

When the bowels become irregular you are uncomfortable and the longer this condition exists the worse you feel. You can get rid of this misery quickly by using HERBINE. Take a dose on going to bed and see how fine you will feel next day. Price 50c. Sold by St. Bernard Mining Co., Incorporated, drug department.

Willing to Change.

While little Bess was being put to bed a thunderstorm set in, and she began to shiver at the thought of being left alone.

"Oh, there's nothing to be afraid of, dearie," said her mother. "I must go down to stay with papa; but God is right here with you, and he won't let any thing harm you."

For the moment the child was pacified, but presently there came a clap that made the window rattle.

"Mamma!" piped a tremulous little voice from the upper landing.

"Yes, dear?"

"Won't you please come up here and stay with God, and let me go down and stay with papa?"—Harper's Magazine.

A few minutes delay in treating some cases of croup, even the length of time it takes to go for a doctor often proves dangerous. The safest way is to keep Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house, and at the first indication of croup give the child a dose. Pleasant to take and always cures. Sold by Geo. King & Sons.

Good Things Are Eternal.

Bring your children up to be happy. Don't let them be any more superstitious than you can help. But, at any rate, avoid one horrible, haunting belief that good things can't last. The good things are the only eternal things of the world.

Accused of Stealing.

E. E. Chamberlain, of Clinton, Mo., boldly accuses Bucklen's Arnica Salve of stealing—the sting from burns or scalds—the pain from sores of all kinds—the distress from boils or piles. "It robs cuts, corns, bruises, sprains and injuries of their terror," he says, "as a healing remedy its equal don't exist." Only 25c at all druggists.

Found Fossil Stag.

While French railroad builders were digging a tunnel recently a fossil stag was found in a clay one hundred feet below the surface of the ground.

Swallowed Toothbrush Fatal.

Howard Bolton, on whom an inquest was held at the London, England, hospital, died from the effects of swallowing a toothbrush while endeavoring to dislodge a piece of meat that had stuck in his throat.

Heroic Treatment.

Little Marjorie, aged four, bumped her head on a key in the front door. She went in the house and put some cold cream on a rag and then went to the door and tied the key up carefully. As she was leaving she said: "I will call in the morning to see how you are."

Plow Ahead.

Pay as little attention to discouragements as possible. Plow ahead as a steamer does, rough or smooth, rain or shine. To carry your cargo and make your port is the point.—Maltbie D. Babcock.

The Best Way.

When you resist the temptation to go the Sour Way, don't go too far and go the Sweet Way. Some people have such sweet dispositions that they are disagreeable. The best way is the Quiet Way—to let people alone as much as possible.—Atchison Globe.

He Kept Moving.

"There goes a man I might have married." "Yes, and you observe he keeps moving."

To Remove Ink Stains.

Washed oxalic or tartaric acid will remove ink stains from books without hurting the print.

"TUBERCULOSIS DAY"—APRIL 30TH.

Churches of Kentucky Will Fight Consumption—Hope to Enlist 250,000 Church Members.

April 30. has been set aside this year as "Tuberculosis Day" and will be observed by 200,000 churches in the country in a manner similar to that of "Tuberculosis Sunday" in 1910, when over 40,000 sermons were preached on the prevention of Consumption. The Kentucky Association for the study and prevention of Tuberculosis states that it will make a special effort to enlist every one of over 1200 ministers in Kentucky to give their co-operation in bringing this vitally important subject before members of their respective churches. It is estimated that in this way over 250,000 persons in Kentucky will be enlisted in this movement.

In one respect "Tuberculosis Day" of this year will differ from "Tuberculosis Sunday" of 1910. Instead of requesting the churches to give to the Tuberculosis cases a special Sunday service, the State Association is this year going to ask that meetings at which Tuberculosis and its prevention be discussed, be held on Sunday, April 30. or on any day near that date, either in the week preceding or the week following. The object is to get as many people in Kentucky as possible to think about this great problem at the same time.

It is conservatively estimated that there are in Kentucky today at least 20,000 persons suffering from this disease in some form or other.

The State Association is planning to distribute educational leaflets in connection with this day and it is earnestly desired that the public will take an active part in stamping out this preventable disease which sends over 6,500 of our citizens to an Attack Like Tigers.

In fighting to keep the blood pure the white corpuscles attack disease germs like tigers. But often germs multiply so fast the little fighters are overcome. Then see pimples, boils, eczema, salt-rheum and sores multiply and strength and appetite fail. This condition demands Electric Bitters to regulate stomach, liver and kidneys and to expel poisons from the blood. "They are the best blood purifier," writes C. T. Budahn, of Tracy, Calif. "I have ever found." They make rich, red blood, strong nerves and build up your health. Try them. 50c at all druggists.

HAVE YOU TRIED PAXTINE

The Great Toilet Germicide? You don't have to pay 50c or $1.00 a pint for listerian antiseptics or peroxide. You can make 16 pints of a more cleansing, germicidal, healing and deodorizing antiseptic solution with one 50c box of Paxtine—a soluble antiseptic powder, obtainable at any drug store.

Paxtine destroys germs that cause disease, decay and odors,—that is why it is the best mouth wash and gargle, and why it purifies the breath, cleanses and preserves the teeth better than ordinary dentifrices, and in sponge bathing it completely eradicates perspiration and other disagreeable body odors. Every dainty woman appreciates this and its many other toilet and hygienic uses.

Paxtine is splendid for sore throat, inflamed eyes and to purify mouth and breath after smoking. You can get Paxtine Toilet Antiseptic at any drug store, price 25c and 50c, or by mail postpaid from The Paxton Toilet Co., Boston, Mass., who will send you a free sample if you would like to try it before buying.

HE HAD A THOUGHT

"If there's anything a man dislikes said young Bailey Yarger, 'it is artificiality in a woman! What he likes is a whole-souled honesty in looks as well as in manners! You can always tell the real thing!'"

"Of course," agreed Winnie Hill merrily. Winnie always made a hit by her promptness in agreeing with masculine opinions as laid out by the men themselves. She was very pretty—after a rich and brilliant fashion—and she and young Bailey Yarger were engaged to be married.

"That's what first attracted me to you," Yarger went on, admiringly. "A fellow can't help but admire genuineness when he meets it."

"Three of my puffs are just pinned on," Winnie reminded him, virtuously. She looked pathetic as she said it and he patted her shoulder encouragingly.

"Oh, well," he reassured her, "if that's the style in hairdressing you're not to blame! You just do as others do and it's no fault of yours! What I can't understand is why women think they fool any one! A blind man can detect a drug-store complexion a block away, and as for the ruby hair or the glittering golden locks they turn out while you wait—if you've got the price—well, all I've got to say is if a wife of mine made such a goose of herself I don't believe I ever could think the same of her again!"

"Of course not," agreed Winnie Hill. "You've got too much sense!"

"They can't fool me!" said Yarger, grimly. "I've got my eyes open as much as the next one, haven't I, little girl?"

"You're terribly smart," Winnie murmured, still admiringly. "I always wonder, when I stop to think about it, what you ever saw in me to make you fall in love with me!"

"I couldn't help doing it," explained Yarger, fondly. "I guess you're as smart as I am any day of the week when it comes to that! And did you ever look in the glass?"

"I don't like to be flattered," Winnie reminded him, putting in the manner which means that a woman likes it very much, indeed. "I don't like to think it's just my looks—"

"It isn't," protested Yarger. "I'm not saying that they don't help! It's kind of nice to have the girl you fall in love with a mighty good looking, besides being everything else that's nice. And your face is real!"

"You'll make me vain in a minute," Winnie said, sweetly. She regarded him seriously with pensive brown eyes. "I guess women like men," she added, irrelevantly, "because they're so childlike! The nicer they are the more juvenile they seem to be!"

"How old am I then?" Yarger inquired.

"Oh," Winnie told him, meditatively, with her head on one side, "you're about 2½, I think!"

For some days afterward Miss Hill appeared thoughtful. Something seemed to have dampened her spirits. Yarger wondered about it helplessly. One night when he called to take her to the theater he observed as she descended the stairs that she seemed actually solemn.

"Don't you feel well?" he inquired solicitously as she walked over toward the mantel mirror.

She made no answer, but opened her silver mesh bag and with deliberation extracted several articles which she carefully laid on the mantel shelf. Leaning forward, she proceeded to do something at which Yarger, watching her, gasped.

Winnie looked around with the eyebrow pencil in her fingers. "You see," she said casually, "my eyebrows grow so very dark and thick at the start and then dwindle out to nothing from the middle to the other end that I have to help them out. Otherwise I'd look like a freak. There—how's that?"

Apparently she did not observe his stupefied silence. She went on with her work. "I've such a lot of color as a usual thing," she murmured, "that if I happen to be a little pale I look dreadful and then I dab it on gently! It's a new kind and really it doesn't show! When I have a cold in the head, as I have tonight, I always look washed out. And"—Miss Hill turned and faced Yarger defiantly—"and I loath gray hair! When mine begins to turn I'm going to dye it if it takes the last cent in the family treasury! If you can't detect it any more readily than you've detected my occasional rouge and my poor little eyebrow pencil I don't see that it'll do any hurt, so there, now!"

"It—it was your childlike trust that made me tell you, Bailey! I couldn't bear to go on deceiving you! And now—if you can't love me any more why, why, just say so!"

Yarger recovered himself. "You may paint yourself purple, green and blue if you want to Winnie!" he said, heroically. "Somehow my affection doesn't seem blighted a particle! I guess it makes a difference who the girl happens to be! But to think I never noticed!"

"That," said Winnie, putting away her handkerchief, "is because you are a man, you darling!"

An Incongruity.

"When I started in life I hadn't nearly your advantages," said the father.

"Quite true," replied the gilded youth. "But you shouldn't reproach me for that. Speak to grandfather."

Sarah Bernhardt.

The clergy and the stricter churchwomen finally succeeded in forcing the mayor to prohibit Sarah Bernhardt from producing "La Samaritaine" during her Philadelphia engagement. The controversy was very similar to that in regard to the production of "Salome" in Philadelphia several years ago. As Rostand has treated the subject with the reverence and delicacy of the discipline, many of those who took active part in the agitation over "Salome" declined to have their names used on this occasion. In order to show the great actress that the agitation was against the play and not against her personality, the Art Club gave a large reception in her honor after the performance, the hostesses including Mrs. Charlemagne Tower, the wife of the former Minister to Berlin; Mrs. John Howard McFadden, whose husband is widely known as a patron of art; Mrs. William Henry Newbold, Mrs. Jasper Yeates Brinton, Mrs. Thomas Skelton Harrison and Mrs. Charles M. Whitcomb. Madame Bernhardt appears at Wells Bijou, Evansville, Friday, March 3. Seats ready February 28. Mail orders received.

BY AILEEN DAVIS.

Woman's Book Club.

The Woman's Book Club was beautifully entertained on Wednesday afternoon, February 22, at the home of Mrs. Ruby Laffoon in East Center street.

In commemoration of Washington's birthday, the rooms were prettily decorated in flags and clusters of cherry blossoms, while vases of red and white carnations and ferns lent themselves beautifully to the color scheme of the interior decoration.

"The Campaign in 1813," the subject under discussion during the afternoon was, interestingly given by Mrs. W. J. Dulin.

In the absence of Mrs. Arkison, the story of "Talleyrand" was beautifully sketched by Mrs. J. F. Dempsey.

After the program had been completed, Little Misses Martha Lou and Lelia Laffoon, dressed as "Martha Washington" and "Uncle Sam," were introduced to the ladies and rendered several most excellent national selections.

Visitors present during the social hour were: Mesdames W. H. Yost, H. H. Holeman, Sallie Holeman, Ida Walker, Fulton Baker and Miss Ethel Goldaday, of Hopkinsville.

An elegant luncheon in five course, carrying out the color scheme was daintily served. The individual fees were pink hatchets with the raised bust of Washington in white. On the top of the squares of angel food were branches of candied cherries.

Valentine Party.

A delightful valentine party was given Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. J. S. Miles, on South Walnut street. The decorations were red and white carnations, and the rooms were lighted with oriental lanterns. Music was furnished by Miss May Oldham. In a happy contest, Mr.

Ed Osborne captured the prize for his presenting the best ideals of matrimony. Dainty refreshments were served.—New Era.

In the Madisonville Christian church Sunday morning, Feb. 26, Rev. S. M. Bernard will preach a sermon, Acts 8th chapter, on the "Conversion of the Ethiopian Officer." In the evening this church unites in the Union Y. M. C. A. Rally. Prayer meeting next Wednesday evening has as its subject, "The Best Thing you Have Read During the Past Week in Your Religious Paper."

Dr. Bleeker Knapp, of Evansville, was in town Wednesday the guest of friends.

What would you think of a salesman who reported for duty one day, lay off for two, worked a half day, went off for a week and so on without any regularity? Surely you would not expect good service from such a man. And yet some merchants hold advertising, which is simply a "salesman," up to great results when it is allowed to "work" very irregularly.

The fact that advertising costs money is proof of its value. Things without cost are usually worth only their price.

Miss Annie B. Moore is home from Louisville, where she bought her spring millinery goods.

Grasps Forces of Nature.

A man's mastery over the beasts is not due to his superior strength. The elephant can push him over, the horse can pull more, and the lion can best him naked and bare handed. But he controls the brutes simply because he is wise enough to reach up and get hold of forces in nature more powerful than either the animals or himself.

School Ship for Cooks.

An old frigate is moored in a canal close to the most fashionable center of Copenhagen. On it is a school of ship cooks. There is an awning on deck. Tables are laid out and numerous inhabitants of Copenhagen take their meals there, for they are both varied and inexpensive, such as are served to passengers on sea voyages.

Look to the Future.

Finish every day and be done with it. You have done what you could. Some blunders and absurdities no doubt crept in; forget them as soon as you can. Tomorrow is a new day; begin it well and serenely, and with too high a spirit to be cumbered with your old nonsense.—Emerson.

Wanted the Hired Man.

"Are you the owner of this place?" asked the book agent. "I am," replied Farmer Cornstossel. "Anything I can do for you?" "No. The chances are that you are too hard-worked to have time to read anything, and that you haven't any spare change, say, how. Let me talk to the hired man."

Marry to Avoid School.

In New York when a young Italian girl does not want to go to school any longer and does not want to work, she evades the truant officer by getting married. It is difficult to handle the case after marriage and such cases are alarmingly frequent.

Overheating Avoided.

The danger of overheating which attends incandescent lamp sockets containing a resistance unit to lessen the brilliancy of the light is avoided by distributing the resistance through a cord, provided with a regulating switch at the end.

Deceived by Ourselves.

We are deceived by the mere external look of ourselves in some new position, devising wisely and executing well; and forget how different a thing it is to lie still and dream, and to start up and work.—James Martineau.

Entertainment at Hanson.

The teachers and pupils of the Hanson school, with the assistance of Mr. H. Lovvick and his music class, gave a most enjoyable entertainment at the school building at that place last Friday night. The program consisted of two plays well performed, and besides the good music made by Hanson people Miss Margaret Turner, of this city, sang in her own sweet way two lovely selections. Miss Katie Murrell, of the Earlington school, pleased the audience with a reading, and Tommie Featherston, one of Earlington's sweet little singers, sang two songs. Refreshments were served. Principal James Caldwell and teachers deserve much credit for this pleasant affair.

Rank Cowardice.

It is cowardice to wish to get rid of everything which we do not like. Sickness and sorrow only exist to further man's education in this world; they will not be needed in the future.—Novels.

Detecting Flattery.

You may have noticed it is much easier to detect flattery directed at others than when it is coming your way.—Atchison Globe.

GOOD ROADS---WHAT THEN?

(William J. Burtcher in Puck.)

I walked to town one day
In the long ago,
And walked back.
I said:
"These roads seem to be a little bad!"
And soon the roads got better.
I walked once again,
And rode back on a bicycle---
A hundred punctures,
And the wheel was out of date.
I cried:
"These roads are simply awful!"
And the roads continued to get better.

Once more I walked to town,
And rode back in an automobile.
A hundred breakdowns,
And the auto, too, was out of date.
I swore: "These roads are a disgrace."
And immediately the roads became perfect.

And still again I walked to town,
And sailed back in an airship.
I declared: "Just as I expected.
Now that we have good roads
We don't need them!"

DIRE DISTRESS

It Is Near at Hand to Hundred of Earlington Readers.

Don't neglect an aching back.
Backache is the kidneys' cry for help.

Neglect hurrying to their aid
Means that urinary troubles follow quickly.
Dire distress, diabetes, Bright's disease.

John Davenport, Wilson street,
Earlington, Ky., says: "I suffered more severely from kidney trouble than words can describe. My back was so sore and lame that I could not do any work for days at a time.
The kidney secretions were scanty and there was a constant pain in my head. I often became dizzy and dark spots appeared before my eyes.
Nothing helped me until I procured
Doan's Kidney Pills at the St. Bernard Drug Store. I felt much better after taking them a few days and from that time on I improved steadily until I was in good health."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo,
New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name--Doan's--

Progress.

I was talking with an aged, but very progressive, farmer not long ago and remarked that the course of improvement in farm methods seemed slow.
"Bless you, my boy," he answered,
"when I started in we only raised nine bushels of wheat to the acre in my state, and now we raise thirteen. I think I've done pretty well." It seems to me that that is not a bad way to look at it. If every one does his part progress is certain. If it does seem slow.--A. M. R.

Daniel Boone on the Trail.

When the sons of men go forth to war, they have never lacked their leader. For sailing the unplumed sea and daring the rim of the world, there are gentlemen a-plenty to take the trail. Such a man was Daniel Boone. When he blazed the trail into Kentucky, this mighty hunter had no army at his back and his one object was to open up a virgin territory for the on coming race.

The history of no man is filled with adventures, the hair breadth escapes and almost unbearable trials as is that of Boone. With his trusty rifle, his knowledge of wood-craft and his ability to make friendship with the savage Indians, opened up that fertile spot known as Kentucky.

The play of Daniel Boone on the Trail that comes to the Fennie Theatre depicts a most interesting part of this most exciting invasion.
There are heart thrills a-plenty. At his council of war with the chiefs of the Shawnee Indians you will see the method used by the savages in their dealings with the white race.

Never before on any stage has any such thrilling scene been shown as where Boone grabs the hand of Blackfish and stops him from hurling defiance against the forces of Corwallis.

In presenting this great historical drama Manager Harris carries a pack of wild Siberian wolves, a tribe of full blooded blanketed Sioux Indians. These features are worked into the many different scenes of the play.

Meaning of "Dago."

"Dago" is slang for a dark-skinned foreigner, applied to Italians and Greeks in this country, and also to Spaniards and Portuguese. The word is derived from the Spanish Diego, meaning James.

Curious Paradox.

It is a curious paradox that the man with the strongest will is the man who yields the most quickly to opposition. He saves all his strength to throw it into the line of least resistance. He is a good general and does not waste himself battering away at dank movement at once.

RED CROSS SACRED

Protest Against Red Cross Sausage Casings, Tooth Brushes and Dynamite—Penalties.

USE FOR ADVERTISING PURPOSES PROHIBITED BY LAW.

The American Red Cross has requested the Solicitor General of the United States to advise it as to the proper steps for the enforcement of that section of its federal character relating to the use of its emblem and name for advertising purposes by manufacturers, retailers, physicians, charitable organizations, barbers and others.

It is believed that many persons who have the emblem or the name of the Red Cross for advertising purposes do so in ignorance of the fact that such use is forbidden by law with penalties for violation which, in aggravated cases, may be a fine of $500 and imprisonment for one year. The scope of the law is shown by the following extract:

The United States has entered into a treaty with all the civilized governments of the world to prevent the use of the emblem and name of the Red Cross except as above stated, and this law is intended as a means of complying with the terms of the treaty.

Already there are evidences that public sentiment is responding to this movement to respect the peculiar significance of the Red Cross and to protect it against abuse. The American Medical Association, the American Hospital Association, and the Association of Military Surgeons have put themselves on record in favor of the movement. Ambulances in New York have given up the Red Cross and have adopted the Green St. Andrew's cross instead. The retail druggist's Association and the Master Barber's Association have passed resolutions urging their members to refrain from the use of the symbol of the Red Cross.

From many sources are coming protests against the use of this emblem, which means so much to the soldier on the battlefield and the sufferer in time of disaster, as an advertisement of such things as dynamite, sausage casings, kindling wood, toilet paper, washboards, stoves, shoes, mineral water, toothbrushes and the like. The officers of the American Red Cross are hoping that the example of a great department store in Los Angeles may be widely followed. The proprietor of this store has declined to carry in stock any article bearing the Red Cross as a trade-mark.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

Make Your Store-Advertising as Much a Fixed Feature of Every Issue of This Newspaper as is Our Local Page.

A "feature," or department, of a newspaper wins its readers a few at a time.

Out of thousands who "scan" and "glance at" a store's advertising in this issue, a few hundred will read ALL OF THAT STORE'S ADVERTISEMENT IN THE NEXT ISSUE. But, if that store's advertisement does not APPEAR IN THE NEXT ISSUE, this process of winning regular readers is broken up.

It would be so with our Local Page. If it did not appear REGULARLY, it would forfeit the interest and attention of MOST OF ITS READERS. And the same would be true of our News Page, of our Society Page, and of other features of the paper, which build up their circles of readers surely and steadily, issue by issue.

A store's advertising gets to be MOST EFFECTIVE after it has become a REGULAR FEATURE of the paper—gaining with EVERY ISSUE, new "regular readers," AND HOLDING THOSE GAINED by making the store news really important to them.

This is the law and the "secret" of store-advertising success—ALL OF IT.

After Huge Success in Other Territory—
More Popular Than Ever.

Della Fox is without doubt the most popular comedienne in America. This charming actress has soared to the heights in the theatrical firmament, attained by but few and her fame and popularity seem to increase yearly. Her presence in other territory seems to have been demanded continually, and the announcement that she will be with us once more is a welcome morsel of news. She will appear at the Wells-Bijou on Sunday, Feb. 26. A special matinee has been arranged for Sunday afternoon to provide for the accommodation of her many followers who would undoubtedly be unable to procure seats for the evening performance. Her present starring vehicle is a sparkling three act comedy with music from the pen of Henri Morvant, and entitled "Delightful Dolly." The press are unanimous in declaring that this play is the most admirably suited comedy in which she has ever favored us. It is strictly a humorous affair and displays the winsomeness and irresistible personality of Della Fox to the best advantage and abounds in ludicrous situations and witty dialogue. Her supporting company is one of uniform excellence, while the production is wholly adequate in every particular. A cordial reception will unquestionably be given this vivacious little lady, and if the crowded houses in other cities thus favored is any criterion Evansville will have its name added to the list of S. R. O. engagements.

"The young man who called on me last night says there is a fool in every family."

"Was he trying to advance that as a reason why we should take him into ours?"

Refreshing Disinfectant.

The following is a refreshing disinfectant for sick room or any room having an unpleasant odor pervading it: Put some fresh ground coffee in a saucer and in the center place a small piece of camphor gum, which light with a match. As the gum burns allow enough coffee to consume with it. The perfume is pleasant and healthful, being far superior to pastilles, and much cheaper.

Nothing to Think About

"Yes," said the little old woman from her corner in the lobby of the family hotel, "we shut up our board here so I could get a little rest. My daughter said I'd never see my narrow home as long as I had a lot of on my hands to fuss over. I like to be in bed in things when I do the least bit of thinking and planning. The doctor said I needed a complete mental rest with no responsibility and nothing to distract me, and that's why we went to boarding."

"I like it here—don't you? Of course I don't know that I like all the people. For instance, the folks in the room next to mine must be dubious. They come home at all hours of the night, my dear, all hours! They walk perfectly straight down the corridor, because I can tell by their steps, but you needn't tell me that two o'clock in the morning is a respectable hour for a man and his wife to get home three or four nights every week."

"I've never laid eyes on them—not that I've tried to, of course, but you'd think I'd run upon them in the hall going in or out. Every time I hear a door close and think it's theirs I find when I get out into the hall it's somebody else going out. It's very suspicious."

"You don't happen to know their name, do you? Not that I care—I just wondered."

"That's a pretty girl who just went by—the one in the lynx fur. Oh, you must have noticed her. She's the one that sits at the table under the electric fan nearest the north window and a young man with straight-up blond hair comes to see her every Tuesday evening. There's another one calls, too, but he's not so regular. She's so dark that they'd make a fine couple, wouldn't they?"

"If people only use common sense there's not a bit of chance for marriages to turn out unhappily. Just look at the Carltons here—anybody can see they're unhappy, because he just buries himself in his newspaper at meals and she asks him to pass anything. I didn't get a bit of salad the other night because my waiter took it away while I was watching to see if Carlton wouldn't speak to his wife before he finished his coffee. "I don't see how she stands it—it's so apparent to outsiders. I feel so sorry for her that I just hate to catch her eye when I'm looking at them. She has a way of looking up suddenly when you don't expect it. I should think she'd have known by the shape of his chin that she'd no business to marry him. Some women never pay any attention to those things."

"Didn't that automobile wake you up the other night? Why, the big green one that stopped out in front of the hotel about half past three and chugged away for such a long time. I think whoever came home in it hadn't any money to pay the bill and the chauffeur had to go inside to collect it. "That Grossebeck man wasn't down to breakfast at all the next morning—I know, because I went early to mine and then read my paper in the lobby, and I could see every one who came out of the dining room, and he never appeared. I'd hate to say for certain that he was the one who came home in that automobile, but I have my suspicions. He always looks as though he came out of a bandbox, too, and a man like that'll bear watching."

"Shouldn't you think that woman with the pinkish hair would get tired running downtown so much? I kept track one week and she went out six mornings straight. "She wears her best sable fur to shop in, too, and that's what drives a lot of husbands to drink, such extravagance. Sable is so delicate. I should think she could find enough useful things to do at home instead of gadding about so much. I'll warrant she doesn't keep her husband's socks darned. It's the most curious color for hair. I'd hate to say she dyed it, but what's a person to think, I'd like to know? Six times in one week—"

"You say maybe she was going to the dentist? Oh, well, perhaps so, but I don't believe it. This time of year everybody is too busy to bother with the dentist. She was just hunting up more doodads to spend her husband's money for, that's what she was up to. I think it's a shame—and he looks so gray. Well, perhaps he is old enough to be gray, anyhow, but if she'd be the right sort of wife, instead of extravagant, he wouldn't be half worried into his grave."

"Do you suppose those clerks read the postal cards before they distribute them in our boxes? They seem to take such a long time over the mail. Mrs. Bings, the grass widow, got one from Europe yesterday. I was standing right there when the postman laid the bundle down and it was on top. She seems quiet, but I'll warrant she's deep. Corresponding with some man abroad is a bad sign."

"Yes," the nice little old woman concluded, "I'm getting a good rest here, because there's absolutely nothing to distract me and occupy my mind! Sometimes I wish there was something for me to take an interest in!"

Easy Money.

"There are all sorts of ways to get rich." "Yes, indeed. Some men sell bogus mining stock and some just rob the Illinois Central railroad."

If you use wet washes let the water be warm.

A cornsheller is not an essential. The hens will do their own shelling if you throw out the ears in short, broken pieces.

Do not give eggs to an early broody hen until she is surely broody, as hens, like the weather at this season of the year, are rather changeable.

The sooner people divest themselves of the idea that they must be always dosing chickens with medicine, the sooner will they be able to breed a hearty race of fowls, that are rump and cholera proof.

See that the nest of the early setter is air tight. This can be accomplished by placing a heavy sheet of paper in the bottom. Sprinkle the paper well with coal oil to discourage lice, and use plenty of straw.

Don't trust the feeding and watering of the chickens entirely to the children. Keep in touch with the feeding and the condition of the houses as well. A child can not be expected to note the first signs of trouble.

The hen has many useful things, including feathers, neck and wings.

And white meat, dark meat, wish bone, legs, And stuffing, side-bone, gizzard, eggs.

She does the very best she's able To make us satisfied at table.

Take a few of your best layers out of the main house and keep them in a place by themselves with the best male bird you can get. The eggs from these hens will be your stock for the chicks that are to be. Get up a little higher this year.

Say, the hens will cackle thanks for those small potatoes. Just boil them and mix with meal or bran. If scraps of meat or soup bones are boiled with the potatoes the biddies will like the flavor better, and there will be money in your pocket.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY.

were played, Mrs. C. A. Morton, of Madisonville, scoring the greatest number of points, won the beautiful prize, a quaint flat Rookwood candle stick.

A most excellent lunch was served at the conclusion of the game.

Those included in the club present were: Mrs. James Paul Banks, C. A. Morton, H. F. Hend, Orla Ruby, J. D. McPherson, Jr., A. R. Cummings, Fred R. Stineke, L. E. Ruby, R. S. Dulin, Jr., G. W. Newbold and Misses Florence Allyn and Elizabeth Victory were invited guests.

"Now, don't tell me you were detained by business or any such respectable story as that."

"I won't, my dear. I was chased many blocks out of my way by a bull rhinoceros."

Height of Goodness.

He is good that does good to others. If he suffers for the good he does, he is better still; and if he suffers from them to whom he did good, he is arrived to that height of goodness, that nothing but an increase of his sufferings can add to it; if it proves his death, his virtue is at its summit; it is heroism complete.—Bryere.

Knowledge.

Knowledge is indeed that which next to virtue, truly and essentially raises one man above another. It finishes one half of the human soul. It makes being pleasant to us, fills the mind with entertaining views, and administers to it a perpetual series of gratification. It gives ease to solitude and gracefulness to retirement.—Addison.

How He Made His Money.

A rich old man was asked how he made his money. "Simplest thing in the world," he said. "I always did the reverse of what everybody else was doing. If everybody bought, I sold—prices were high. If everybody sold, I bought—prices were low."

Found Equivalent.

"Did you discover the north pole?" "Not exactly," replied the explorer. "But I found a place that was sufficiently cold and lonely to be its practical equivalent."
